

About Ron Kamen

Ron Kamen is the founder and CEO of EarthKind Energy Consulting, a New York consulting firm that has been representing commercial clients in clean energy transformations that save money and reduce carbon footprints since 1999.

Ron's consulting has produced clean electricity, heating & cooling, and transportation programs that have eliminated megatons of carbon, improve air quality and annually save his clients hundreds of millions of dollars.

His client representation has included clean energy work for the World Bank; US military; small businesses and Fortune 1000 corporations (including Macy's, Marsh McLennan, Murphy Brothers Contracting); schools & colleges (Syracuse University, U Buffalo, SUNY...); scores of municipalities (Pelham, Mamaroneck, Ossining...); and government agencies & authorities (NYS OGS, NYS Bridge Authority, NYPA,...).

Ron also hosts the national AWESome EarthKind podcast, which empowers families & businesses with the knowledge of how to "Go Clean & $ave Green".
